"To think is to confine yourself to a single thought that one day stands still like a star in the world's sky." Heidegger

The ontological distinction is between beings and their Being.

The ontic/ontological distinction lines up with that between beings and their Being.

On the broadly epistemic dimension, beings are discovered and Being is disclosed.

Heidegger has a three-part ontology, comprising Dasein (us) and two kinds of beings whose Being is not that of Dasein.
